THE STAGE COACH

1961

St. Mary's Junior College

Raleigh, North Carolina

GAY DAVIS, Editor

STUART AUSTIN, Business Manager

This is St. Mary's. Set in the traditional "grove of stately oak trees" where some rain, some sunlight, and an occasional car from Chapel Hill appear, it attains the reputation of being one of those great southern institutions frequented by bevies of interesting people (particularly on week ends). We, who live within its historical old stone walls, acquire a deep respect for its traditions as we strengthen our spiritual convictions, and expand our intellectual capacities. We find here new reasons for living —friends at Carolina and State—and new incentives for improvements—extermination of pigeons. At times we feel that the "going gets rough" as the radiators bang and as exams come and go, but St. Mary's always manages to pull us through the hardest of times. We will certainly remember our days here in years to come. The memories of those hours of paging in the parlor, those dates who wouldn't wear ties, and those compulsory breakfasts, will never fade. It is here that the bonds of friendship that will last a lifetime are strengthened. Yes, this is St. Mary's.

Dedication

BESSIE B. BROWN

To one whose sincere interest in all of the students at St. Mary's and whose special attention to all of our various needs has made her a vital part of our daily lives, we, the Senior Class, wish to say thank you. It is to you, Miss Bessie B. Brown, with grateful appreciation, that we dedicate the 1961 STAGECOACH.

Administration

RICHARD G. STONE
President

A.B., Western Maryland College; Ph.D., The Johns Hopkins University; L.H.D., Western Maryland College. St. Mary's, 1946-.

Esteemed for the success he has brought to St. Mary's, respected for the wise counseling he has given us, and admired for his charm and dignity, Dr. Stone takes his position as President of the school. He will always be remembered as the keeper of the principles that make St. Mary's what it is.

Our Dean of Students Miss Edith A. Richardson, better known as "Miss R," strives constantly to make St. Mary's more profitable, more comfortable, and more convenient for us, the students. For her special interest in and consideration for our problems, no matter how small, she will always be gratefully remembered in our hearts.

Our chaplain, Dr. Moultrie Guerry, inspires us to live each day to its fullest capacity here at St. Mary's. Whether in the chapel, in the classroom, or just around the campus, his winning ways and smiling, but firm counseling guide us in the right directions.

Classes

Senior Class Officers

Muff Nabers, President; Betsy Dunn, Vice-President; Becky Elmore, Secretary; Cleve Fletcher, Treasurer.

We are the Seniors. Usually found in Penick except during breakfast, concerts, and assembly. We dignified young ladies set the trend for daily life at St. Mary's. Of course an occasional Summer Reading Test or an effort to dethrone the Faerie Queene comes along to cramp our style for a short time, but we always manage to survive in order to greet each week end with a renewed enthusiasm and a grim determination to beat the Senior Slump. Our weekday hours are spent in keeping the Coca-Cola and Metrecal companies in business and in emptying dirty ash trays. Being dedicated pursuants of matters of the intellect, we are rather frequently seen with our noses stuck in Baugh or in an English translation of Le Cid. With graduation approaching and the coming realization that our days at SMJC are numbered, we Seniors frantically search for missing QP's and prepare willingly, yet unwillingly, to leave the "ANGEL FARM."

Junior Class Officers

Cornelia Hines, Treasurer; Jane Brooks, Secretary; Winston Conner, Vice-President; Mary Christopher, President.

We are the Juniors, a class known to be unified even in the wee hours of the morning when we invaded Penick dorm. We showed original deviltry on our own halls. Hellacious highlights being Holt's water fights, "tacky day," and wall-to-wall papering; West Rock's monopoly on No-Doze; and the warm atmosphere found on third Smedes, cooled only by the drip-drip-drip of the sprinkler system and Dr. Stone's tears. Although graduation will be sad we look gleefully forward to riding the Penick elevator next year.

We are the Commercial Class. We enjoy sleeping and playing bridge when we are not in class taking dictation, typing, or doing some of the other things that commercial students have to do in order "to prepare themselves for the business world." Since we have no Saturday classes, we always sleep until about twelve and then we get up so we can start getting ready for the week end. We leave hoping that next year's class will have more privileges and still be prepared "to go out into the business world."

We are the Sophomores. Girls who are at last headed toward high school graduation. The past two years have been years of experience. Nowhere but in the Sophomore year could there have been so many shafts, so many Canterbury Tales, or so many Sophomore petitions be put up, to have had so few passed. Nevertheless, we have enjoyed these two years in which we have learned all about scarabs, kilts, and weejuns. Those of us who are leaving and those who are remaining look forward to a future of more dates, more overnights, and no more high school boys.

We are the Freshmen. Our main reasons for coming to St. Mary's are pretty obvious—perfection of study habits, preparation for college days, etc. We actually try to accomplish these ends; but as our bridge playing improves, our grades come closer and closer to hitting rock bottom. Some of us even have to go to study hall; and during those two hours of silence, we become extremely proficient at annoying teachers and playing tic-tac-toe. While goofing-off in the hall, we anxiously await that call that will assure us of that all-important once-a-week date. Right now we are looking forward to being Sophomores next year and to "guiding" our Freshmen little sisters.

GAY DAVIS
Editor

The St. Mary's Yearbook, the STAGECOACH under the direction of the editor, Gay Davis, portrays in one volume all phases of campus life. From September until the final deadline, the editorial staff busily works to develop the theme, write the copy, plan the layouts and get pictures. On Class Day in May each student is given her annual in order that she may always remember her friends and activities at St. Mary's.

The editorial staff studies old yearbooks in order to get interesting ideas for picture layouts.

The Staff Members make n last minute ch on the annual just before it goes to press.

The Muse

The Muse offers to the aspiring writers of St. Mary's an opportunity to benefit from the criticism of fellow writers. The literary magazine, entirely composed of student work, is annually published in the Spring.

MARY ANN CARTER
Editor

Members of the Muse staff revise one last time before the magazine goes to press.

The Altar Guild

The Brnss Committee is responsible for keeping the brnss polished. The girls on the flower committee arrnnge the flowers for the altar.

The Silver Committee works hard to keep smudges and finger prints from tarnishing the Chapel silver.

The St. Mary's Altar Guild, under the guidance of Dr. Guerry and Miss Bason, is composed of seniors who wish to help in the care of the Chapel. The members of this organization serve as acolytes and crucifers and take care of the interior of the Chapel.

Dance Marshals

To insure the success of dances at St. Mary's, careful planning is the responsibility of the Dance Marshals. The Chief Dance Marshal is the Senior representative. Elected by their classes the Dance Marshals are: Ruth Mills, Chief; Erwin Parrot, Nona Walker, and Tay Ashford.

Fire Captain

Searching frantically for flashlights and slamming windows are sure signs that our fire captain, Brandy McKinley has scheduled another drill. The fire drills are carried out in co-operation with the Raleigh Fire Department to insure the protection of St. Mary's Students.

Assembly Chairman

Poise, sincerity, and originality, which are qualities necessary to hold the attention of the students, are found in this year's Assembly Chairman, Jean Lippels. Meeting her responsibility, she has presented a variety of well received programs.

Glee Club

Director

Under the direction of Miss Geraldine Cate, the Glee Club presents concerts throughout the year. They traditionally present programs at Christmas and graduation. This year for their additional project the girls worked with the Raleigh Community Choir which presented the "Magnificat." They also presented a program with the Cold Cuts at State College in the spring.

The Ensemble represents a select group of Glee Club members who are especially interested in vocal music. Throughout the year, the members present a variety of programs for local community organizations.

The Young Women's Christian Association is a non-denominational service organization designed to aid those in need. Its members organize visits to the State School for the Blind, Old People's Home, and the Orphanage and attempt to make such holidays as Christmas more enjoyable for the less fortunate. In this manner, St. Mary's derives many benefits from its Christian service.

Joanna Dayvault, Vice-President; Forrest Williamson, President; Leslie Redding, Secretary-Treasurer.

Margaret Gardner, Vice-President; Patsy Frank, President.

C A N T E R B U R Y

The Canterbury Club is the Young People's organization of the Episcopal Church. The Episcopal students and other interested girls from St. Mary's join students from various colleges in Raleigh for the purpose of Christian fellowship and study.

Granddaughter's Club

Girls whose mothers or grandmothers attended St. Mary's compose the Granddaughter's Club. The club's main project is the sale of St. Mary's address books, and it contributes to the St. Mary's Loyalty Fund. Members help the Alumnae Association with class reunions. The Alumnae secretary directs the Club's activities.

Doctor's Daughters' Club

Daughters of doctors make up the St. Mary's Doctor's Daughters' Club. These girls try to help unfortunate people throughout the year. One of their projects is distribution of baskets of food to needy people.

YDC represents the Democratic contingent of the student body and endeavors to promote active participation in politics. Interest was aroused during the 1960 election year by a rally held in assembly and a serenade on front campus by Jim Symington. A mock election was held after the rally, and results gave proof to the fact that a strong two-party system exists among college students in the South.

YRC was organized in order to stimulate student interest in government and politics and the furthering of the two-party system. YRC was responsible for a Republican rally with John Gavin, the Republican gubernatorial candidate for North Carolina, as the Speaker. Various other rallies evoked great enthusiasm for the Republican presidential ticket.

Dahling, I just can't understand why my date is always late.
Trick or Treat?
You'd just never believe what happened.

Eat, Drink and be merry, for tomorrow you may diet.
It's all in knowing how.

Seniors just Never have time to play.
M.P. what is your suppressed desire?
Old as I am, I still can't blow 'em all out at once.

I can't believe you did that.
There's a Lilliputian among us.
The Circle strolls again.

Please dig the cool cat ready for a night on the town.
Whadayamean "Forgotten"? He called didn't he?
Now trip the light fantastic.

Well Girls, this is college.
Grab your partner and doh-sey-doh.
Paper, paper everyplace and not a thing to read-huh Brittain?
